Brilliant Autumn Season Being Planned at Tuxedo

Ball, Dog Show and Many Entertainments for Debutantes Will Be Features of Fall Program of Events Arranged in Cottage Colony

As usual Tuxedo will be one of the busiest social centers throughout the autumn, and the women of the cottage colony are already planning a brilliant season, which will include not only the usual autumn ball, which is always a feature of the fashionable life in the Hamptons at Halloween, but a dog show for charity as well and no end of other events which will include week-end parties and entertainments for the future debutantes. In the hall-room of the old clubhouse on October 23 a dog show for the benefit of the Tuxedo Hospital will be held, and as the affair falls on Saturday it will be the excuse for much entertaining over the week-end. Mrs. David Wagstaff is the treasurer of the affair and Mrs. Theodore Freilighuysen, Mrs. Preston Davis and Mrs. Edward M. Weld the other officers. Through their efforts the pedigreed dogs from all over the neighborhood will be brought together for the charity in which these women are deeply interested. There will be the usual dancing later in the day at the club, which, like the cottages in the park, will be crowded throughout the autumn with visitors who will take in the various social events.

by Mrs. J. Horace Harding. Mrs. Harding gave a luncheon at her home, 355 Fifth Avenue, for Miss Laura Harding, who will be formally introduced later on. Mrs. Harding afterward took her guests to a matinee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Willoughby Sharp have arranged to give a dance for their debutant daughter, Miss Dorothy Newton Sharp, Thanksgiving night. It will be at the Colony Club and it goes without saying, one of the smartest affairs of the early season.

In anticipation of New York's brilliant autumn many have already returned to town, and the hotels and restaurants during the luncheon and dinner hours are so crowded that the scenes suggest the gay days before the war. Many who have not opened their homes at the hotels, entertaining in an informal way and giving impromptu dances. The Ritz and the Plaza, St. Regis, Gotham and Waldorf are all taken to their capacity with the visitors flocking to town.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coppell have come in from their country home at Tuxedo and probably will entertain in an informal way throughout the autumn, for their daughter, Miss Susan Bowers Coppell, who will join the ranks of the debutantes in December, when her parents will give a large affair for her formal presentation. She is very popular with her various Coppell relatives, the Louis Hights, the O. DeLancey Costers and the Lawrence H. Ellmans, all of whom may be counted upon to do something for her in a social way this winter.

The run to White Sulphur and Hot Springs is such a short one that many who have come back to town for the season make frequent visits there to enjoy the wonderful golf and horseback riding and the hunt meets that are part of the social life at these popular resorts.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves have deserted their home at Mineola and gone to White Sulphur and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Rionda are at Hot Springs, where they will remain for another fortnight before returning to their country home at Alpine-on-the-Hudson. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Goin, are with them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Magee Ellsworth and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Van Rensselaer Ellsworth, are at Hot Springs, where they plan to remain for the greater part of the month. Mrs. Joseph E. Widener is at White Sulphur for an indefinite stay. Mrs. John A. Logan has arrived there for the autumn and recent additions to the fashionable colony include Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris, Mrs. James Henry McCoom, Miss Edythe McCoom and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Terry West. The Wests, who passed the summer at Dobbs Ferry, will pass the balance of the winter in southern Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Roderic Tower are also to pass the winter on the coast and will make their home for the coming season at Los Angeles. New York will also miss Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Chester French and their daughter, Miss Martha French, this winter. They plan to sail about the middle of November and will pass the balance of the winter in southern Italy.
